Political Mapping Portfolio

Question 1

Using the interactive map, analyze the changes to the political border of Yugoslavia. Enter "1991" into the box, then move until Yugoslavia in Eastern Europe is centered in your screen. Next, put "1994" in the box. Using this map, identify and list the border changes you see, including the names of countries and the colors they are on the map. Next, search online to find out what important events occurred to cause the changes. Finally, write a short paragraph describing the events and how the populations of the former Yugoslavia were affected.

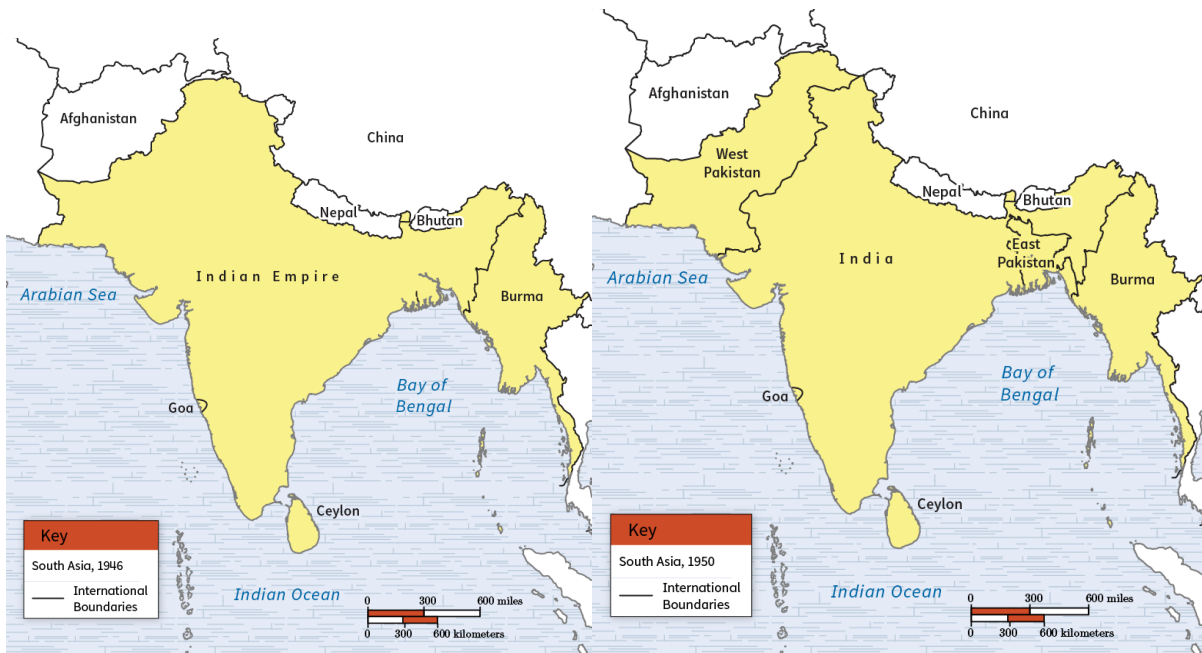

Identify and list the border changes you see between the 1991 and 1994 maps:

List and briefly describe the important events that caused the changes between 1991 and 1994:

Write a short paragraph describing the events and how the populations of the former Yugoslavia were affected:

Question 2

Analyze the two maps of South Asia shown here. Identify and list the border changes that take place. Describe what the first map tells you about the government in South Asia in 1946. Then, research online to find out what specific events occurred in South Asia between 1946 and 1950. Use that information to describe which of the four main reasons why border changes occur led to the differences between the two maps. Using effective reasoning, describe two challenges that the population of South Asia likely faced as a result of the changes.

Identify and list the border changes you see between the 1946 and 1950 maps of South Asia:

Describe what the 1946 map of South Asia tells you about the government.
Consider: Who was in power? How did they rule? How can you tell?

What specific events occurred between 1946 and 1950?

Which of the four main causes of political map shifts occurred between 1946 and 1950?

Describe two challenges likely faced by the population of South Asia during or after the political map shifts.
